

Don't Put It in the Attic

It's Fun to Refinish It Yourself
—We'll Tell You How

MANY lovely home things are put in the attic when they are old only on the outside. They would look as good as new if refinished.

You can refinish them yourself with a little paint, varnish, or enamel, and a bit of work "that is really fun."

We organized a special department just to tell you how to refinish things successfully. Write our "Home Service Department," telling them what you want to refinish and how you want it to look.

Our experts will tell you just how to do the work, what materials brushes, etc., you need.

We make special paints, varnishes, enamels, wall finishes and stains for you to use. They are the results of 75 years in the paint-making business.

They are the best materials of their kind that we know.

Ask for Fuller's Free Advice and use Fuller's Products to make your home even more attractive than it is now. The work is easy and fascinating. The results are a wonderful reward.

Miss Mabel Milligan leaves for Trinidad, Colorado.

Godfrey Sykes and Wm. Watson

J. T. Pierce went to sleep standing between two cars on the Central Arizona railway (road to the A. L. & T. mill) near the electric light plant. An engine pulled the cars out and Pierce was found on the track, crushed to death. He worked for the A. L. & T. company.

Mrs. J. R. Treat is visiting in Hecla, S. D.

Coconino becomes a county of the first class, by virtue of a big increase in tax valuations, and the salaries of all the county officials except the sheriff are thereby automatically raised.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh E. Campbell have a daughter.

Announcements out for the wedding in Iola, Kans., of Rev. W. C. Geyer and Miss Ethel Marine.

Following are the republican delegates to the state convention: T. E. Pollock, M. J. Riordan, John Clark, J. G. Verkamp, E. A. Sliker, E. H. Simpson, E. L. Crawford, M. L. Ranney, Geo. U. Young, C. M. Funston.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Dutton visiting in Los Angeles.

T. E. Pulliam back from Los Angeles, where he went on mining business.

Chas. Knop and family leave here and locate in Los Angeles.

Miss Lillian Beal returns from several months' visit in Los Angeles.

Louis Burns back from school at Madison, Wis., and is working in the county recorder's office.

Mrs. F. M. Livermore returns from Ecuador, South America, where she spent a year with her father, Gen. A. J. Sampson, minister to that country.

Dr. E. S. Miller appointed district deputy for Arizona, B. P. O. Elks.

George Hochderfer makes final proof on his homestead on the west side of the San Francisco peaks.

Peter Michelbach also proves up on his homestead near the Hochderfer place.

R. J. Fox, who left here six years ago, is now in Salisbury, Rhodesia, South Africa, big game hunting.

SUMMER SCHOOL STUDENTS NOT WHOLLY SERIOUS

Few students at the Flagstaff summer school are moved to attend by frivolous reasons. They are a serious minded lot, in the main, and there are usually substantial reasons behind their attendance. Teachers go to summer school for professional study, to seek advancement in their field. College undergraduates attend to take courses they have failed to pass during the collegiate year or to attempt to start the new year with an advantage.

Comparatively few at summer schools fall outside these classes. Perhaps that is why the legend was invented long ago that summer schools were dull, pedantic places. Perhaps the regular students started this myth. At the summer school at Flagstaff, at least, it has no basis in fact. Not that the students there were not possessed of as serious missions as students elsewhere. Not at all.

There were students there who were turning vacation time into working time lest they lose the one degree they are concerned over. These people are serious enough.

That does not mean that they have lost their sense of humor, collective or individual. Not for a minute. They plug along through the days when most people are trying to make their tasks as light as possible, but when the opportunity comes, they can show a brand of lightness, insouciance, playfulness, that is as genuine as the regular college brand. The teachers are not school ma'ams at such moments, however austere and inflexible they are the rest of the year.

One class in the Flagstaff summer school recently demonstrated this fact. It was the last day of summer school, the last session of this particular class. The instructor turned his class over to the members thereof. There ensued a mock session, enlivened by imitations of the instructor himself, a mock ballet, parodies of the most famous answers of the summer session.

These were mature students, each of them well along in the professions, come back to summer school to get a bit further ahead. But there was time for frivolity in their lives. Their fun was as spontaneous as an unfurled flag, as full of vigor as the fun of the youngsters in their teens who had preceded them in these class rooms.

Those who actually know the summer school say that this is no exceptional performance, that the solemnity of summer session is largely legendary.

DR. DUNCAN, ASTRONOMER, VISITS WITH FRIENDS HERE

Dr. J. C. Duncan, director of Wellesley college observatory, is visiting friends at Observatory hill. Dr. and Mrs. V. M. Slipper, E. C. Slipper, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Lampland and Dr. Duncan, are all graduates of the University of Indiana, and as Dr. Duncan was formerly connected with the Lowell observatory, he does not feel like a stranger in Flagstaff.

He will return to the east after making a study of dark nebulae at Mt. Wilson observatory, California.

NEW WILSON HOME FAST NEARING COMPLETION

The ten-room home of C. B. Wilson, which is being built on the new road on the side of Observatory hill is nearing completion, and will probably be ready for occupation in a month. The house is placed in a location where some of the finest scenic features of this part of the country are in view. The high basement wall, made of malpai rock, is a distinguishing feature of the new home, while the many windows of the upper floor will make the rooms sunny and pleasant at any time of the year. George Keltner of Phoenix is the carpenter-contractor, while Ben Haddix of Flagstaff is in charge of the stone work.

Wilson & Coffin will put in the plumbing and E. M. Tackett will do the painting.

JOE ROTH ELOPES

Joe Roth, the amiable brakemaster of the second district and Miss Madge Miller of Chicago, stole a march on their friends and eloped to Holbrook where they were married. We have not yet learned the exact date the happy event took place, but we know that they are at home to their friends at 717 Williamson avenue. Their many friends here will join in wishing them much joy.—Winslow Mail.

Flagstaff friends here will wish Joe all kinds of prosperity and happiness, for they never stopped liking him just because he left Flagstaff.

A vacuum tin is of little value in itself

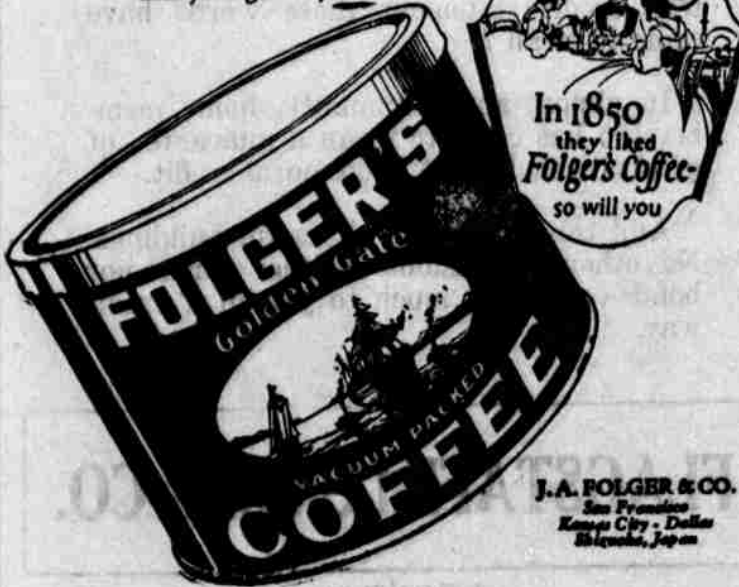

It's the brand that counts

A vacuum tin will retain any coffee flavor—but it may not be the flavor you want.

That's reason enough why you should look for "Folger's Golden Gate" on every tin of coffee you buy. That name assures you of a better coffee flavor—a flavor developed by seventy-two years of experience.

Folger's Golden Gate Coffee is "different in taste from other coffee and better."

Tell your grocer you want it.
